COMMUNICATION FROM EX-GOVERNOR SAYERS.

The Speaker laid before the House and had read the following communication:

September 29, 1926.

Hon. Lee Satterwhite, Austin, Texas.

Dear Mr. Speaker: I herewith enclose you a communication which you will oblige me by having read to the House.

Yours sincerely,
JOSEPH D. SAYERS.

Austin, Texas, September 28, 1926.
To the Honorable House of Representatives:

Words are not sufficient to fully express my appreciation of your kindly feeling, as shown in your resolution of the 23rd instant.

I can only say, I thank you with all my heart.

To be thus remembered, notwithstanding the errors of commission and omission with which I may be justly charged, has made upon me a deep and lasting impression, and more than repays the service I may have rendered.

The approbation and good will of his fellow citizens after his work shall have been done, is the richest recompense that can be made to one who has been engaged in the public service.

Again, and in this my wife joins, I thank you, sincerely and earnestly, for your most generous commendation and good wishes.

To each and every Representative, I pray that everything that is good, and nothing that is harmful, may come in full measure.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH D. SAYERS.

On motion of Mr. Fly, the communication was ordered printed in the Journal.

RELATING TO STUDENTS AT C. I. A.

Mr. Hornaday offered the following resolution:

Whereas, There are rumors, charges and complaints over the State of Texas that the sons of faculty members of our College of Industrial Arts at Denton are attending this institution and in it are completing their academic work; and

Whereas, It is the opinion of this House that this institution was originally founded and dedicated to the use of the female sex exclusively, and that it should be continued and maintained as a female institution; and

Whereas, If such condition actually exists, be it

Resolved, That this House go on record as looking with disfavor upon such a practice, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President of the College of Industrial Arts.

Signed—Hornaday, Fields, Harper, Hefley.

The resolution was read second time and was adopted.

RELATING TO BUSINESS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Williamson offered the following resolution:

Whereas, The Constitution of this State provides and contemplates that the Legislature shall be convened in special session only on extraordinary occasions, and at such sessions shall attend to emergencies demanding immediate legislation only; and

Whereas, The paramount necessity justifying the convening of the instant called session of the Legislature was and is the validation of road district bonds to the end that investors in such bonds may not suffer loss and at the same time the good faith and credit of the State shall remain undiminished and unsullied; and

Whereas, It has proven a huge task to give proper attention to and enact into law the numerous validating acts necessary to be passed in order to validate said bonds; and

Whereas, At this juncture all other matters should be subordinated to the accomplishment of this one task and the undivided attention of the Legislature ought to be given to this subject and the accomplishment of the task expedited; and

Whereas, Numerous matters of legislation are being introduced, resolutions offered, bills of a local nature being introduced and considered, investigations launched, and in general the time and attention of the two houses are being focused and consumed on matters and things not necessary or, under a proper conception of the purpose of the Constitution, proper or expedient to be dealt with at a session of this kind, convened as it is in extraordinary session,—all having the effect of impeding the prompt validating of road district bonds; and

Whereas, The investigation of State departments, being one of the purposes for which the Legislature was convened in special session, has been amply provided for by appointing a committee of the House of Representatives to carry on such investigation with power and means to carry on the same; and this being true the whole attention of the Legislature should be directed to the bond-validating program to the exclusion of all other legislative or semi-judicial programs, leaving the matters of legislation and other numerous matters for the consideration of the Fortieth Legislature when it meets in regular session; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Texas, That the House of Representatives will give its exclusive and undivided attention to the validating of road district bonds and the enactment of any needed legislation germane to the bond subject submitted by the Governor in reference to curing any defects in present law preventing the issuance of valid road district bonds, and that when this has been accomplished the House of Representatives goes on record as being ready to adjourn, and it is the sense of this body that this should and will be done and accomplished at least by the end of the present special session of the Legislature, at which time the Legislature should and the House of Representatives is ready to adjourn sine die.

Signed—Williamson, Hall of Harris, Bobbitt.

The resolution was read second time.

Mr. McFarlane moved to table the resolution.

Yeas and nays were demanded, and the motion to table prevailed by the following vote:

PROVIDING FOR COMMITTEE TO READ THE CIVIL AND CRIM-INAL STATUTES.

Mr. Kittrell offered the following resolution:

H. C. R. No. 8, To examine Civil Statutes.

Whereas, Examination and use of the Statutes, Civil and Criminal, enacted at the Regular Session of the Thirty-ninth Legislature, pursuant to the report of the codifying commission reveals almost every day omissions of material parts of the statutes, especially the Civil Statutes, and various changes in and departures from the statutes heretofore existing; and

Whereas, It is impossible for members of the Legislature, during the session, either regular or special, to examine the entire statutes and discover such errors of omission and commission; and

Whereas, It is desirable and necessary that such errors and omissions be corrected by amendment in the interests of the courts, the bar and the people; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That a committee of two members, both of whom shall be lawyers, be appointed, one of such members by the Speaker of the House, and one by the presiding officer of the Senate, which committee shall have the power and is charged with the duty of reading the Civil and Criminal Statutes, chapter by chapter, article by article, and section by section, as the same appear in the statutes existing before the recodification, and reading in like manner the statutes as codified and as adopted in 1925, and compare the two, so as to ascertain what changes, errors and omissions are revealed by the codification adopted in 1925, and report in printed form the results of its investigation to the Fortieth Legislature; be it further

Resolved, That the members of said committee be paid $10 a day each for not exceeding ninety days, and they be allowed to employ a stenographer at an expense not greater than $450, and that said committee be authorized to expend not exceeding $250 for printing their report; be it further

Resolved, That the sum of $1250 be set apart and appropriated out of the contingent fund of the House and the same sum out of the contingent fund of the Senate, and carrying out the purposes of this resolution, the per diem of the members of the committee, the salary of the stenographer and the cost of printing to be paid on accounts certified by the committee as correct.

Signed—Kittrell, Barron, Bonham, Dielmann, Williams, Masterson.

The resolution was read second time.

On motion of Mr. Kittrell, the resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Reason for Vote.

I voted for the adoption of the minority report on Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 4 because I am in favor of calling attention to Congress that we oppose so much fifty-fifty appropriations, but would have opposed any ap-appropriation to send a committee to Washington, thinking that the sending of the resolution would accomplish the end sought, saving the expense.

RELATING TO VOTING BY ABSENT MEMBERS.

Mr. Laird offered the following resolution:

Whereas, On September 30, while a vote was being taken on House bill No. 307, it was called to the attention of the House that a member of the House, who was absent from the city and who had not been present during that day's session, was being recorded on the voting machine as voting in favor of reconsidering and tabling the vote by which the said House bill failed to pass;

Whereas, The integrity of the House of Representatives and the welfare of the State of Texas depends upon an honest and fair vote being taken on all measures coming before this body;

Whereas, It would be a reflection upon the members of the House to permit such a practice to go unnoticed; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That the Speaker of the House is hereby instructed to appoint a committee of five members of the House to investigate immediately the facts relating to the matter mentioned in this resolution. That said committee is hereby empowered to summons witnesses, to administer oaths, and to require witnesses to testify; be it further

Resolved, That upon the conclusion of said investigation that this committee report at once to the House its findings in order that the House might decide what should be done with the one who was guilty of such misconduct and also how it might best prevent this practice from occurring again.

The resolution was read second time and was adopted.

(Mr. Fly in the chair.)

In Memory
of
Hon. Francis Charles Hume, Jr.

Mr. Kittrell offered the following resolution:

Francis Charles Hume, Jr., who was a representative from Harris county in the Thirtieth Legislature, and later served for four years as a member of the Senate from the Houston district, died in Houston, Texas, on January 26, 1926, in his fifty-second year.

He was born in Galveston, Texas, June 7, 1874, and was descended from a noble ancestry.

His father, Major F. Charles Hume, Sr., was a gallant Confederate soldier, and was said by army surgeons to have been the most desperately wounded soldier who ever survived his wounds in the Confederate Army.

He was a knightly gentleman of the old school and was recognized by the bar and courts as one of the ablest lawyers at the Texas bar—and to his son, F. Charles Hume, Jr., he transmitted those splendid qualities which marked his career in private and public life.

F. Charles Hume, Jr., was graduated in 1893 from Abbotts School, Bellevue, Virginia, took his legal course at George Washington College, Washington, D. C., and later attended the University of Texas.

He was a brilliant, fascinating, witty and eloquent speaker. As such, his reputation became nationwide. He held membership in the Royal Society of London, the International Law Association, Texas Citizenship League, the Elks, the University Club and the Presbyterian Church.

In no way can the esteem in which he was held by his brethren of the bar be more clearly shown than by inserting here the memorial tribute paid him by the bar of Houston:

"Charlie Hume, as we all called him, has passed beyond, after years of suffering and affliction, mingled with great bereavements. He was born in Galveston on June 7, 1874, and began the practice of law there with his father, moving to Houston after the great storm in 1901.

"His father, Major F. Charles Hume, who preceded him in death but a few years, was one of the great lawyers of Texas. His mother, a splendid and beautiful woman, who survives him, is a niece of the wife of Sam Houston. From both sides of the family Charlie is descended from an illustrious heritage. His ancestors were among the great of the South. This family of Hume is directly descended from a line of Scottish peers, and during his lifetime Major Hume was advised that he was entitled to a British peerage, but with his characteristic modesty, said he had rather be an American citizen.

"Charlie attained national prominence as an after dinner speaker, and addresses which he delivered before the Houston Bar Association, the State Bar Association and the American Bar Association were widely published and read, both in this country and England. He performed useful public services as a Legislator and as a State Senator, and during the last several years of his life was referee in bankruptcy for this division of the Southern District of Texas.

"This in brief tells the story of his two and fifty years. He was an honest man and during the many years of his public and professional life his integrity was never questioned."

Be it Resolved, by his brethren at the bar who survive him, That we regret his passing at an age when he should have been entering into his greatest usefulness, and we tender to his noble mother and the surviving members of his family our sincerest sympathy.

Resolved, That this memorial be entered upon the Journal of the House and that a copy, signed by the Speaker and attested by the Chief Clerk of the House, be transmitted to the mother of Mr. Hume.

HALL of Harris,
ACKER.

The resolution was read second time and was adopted by a rising vote.

In Memoriam

Simple Resolution No. 21

Since the adjournment of the Regular Session of the Thirty-ninth Legislature, a man, once a Senator from the Sixteenth District, which includes Harris county and the city of Houston, has passed over to "where beyond those voices there is peace."

Born September 9, 1849, died February 28, 1926, phrases the Alpha and Omega of the life of Rienzi Melville Johnston, a life of usefulness and of the honor and efficient service in every sphere of activity into which he entered for the promotion of his own interests or those of the public, or into which he was called by the voice of his fellow citizens.

As the head of a newspaper of statewide circulation, he demonstrated that he was the peer of the ablest of all the editorial writers of this nation. The influence of the paper, the editorial policies of which he directed, was far-reaching, because the people knew that behind the editorial pen was a man who was ever faithful to his convictions, and whose convictions were not for sale, and whose judgment as to political candidates and policies was well nigh unerring.

He did not hesitate to avow the conclusion of his deliberate judgment in advance of party action, but when his party had spoken through the recognized channels of authority, he yielded to its mandate, and loyally and ably supported the platform it had promulgated, and the candidate it had chosen.

In 1892 and 1896 his paper stood almost alone amongst the daily press of Texas, in support of the nominees of the regular convention, and his logical, loyal and able editorials challenged the admiration of political friends and foes alike.

As a member of the Senate of Texas, he exerted a forceful influence upon its deliberations and enjoyed the unreserved respect and confidences of his fellow members. Appointed United States Senator by Hon. O. B. Colquitt, Governor of Texas, his term of service though very short, was of sufficient length to enable him to make clear to his associates in that august parliament that he was a man worthy to represent the imperial commonwealth with which his name and his services had so long and so honorably associated.

The integrity of conviction and action of Rienzi Johnston was never questioned. Truth could not, and malice dared not assail his character or his record.

He stood "four square to every wind that blew," and his legion of friends and admirers cherish his memory as that of a man who never yielded his convictions to expediency, and who never failed a friend or forsook a cause which he had once espoused. His candor and courage were proverbial. He never posed or pretended. While holding to the fundamentals of Christian faith, he indulged in no Pharisaical pretensions nor made broad his phylacteries.

That man who has lived faithful to every trust, and who has striven to achieve at all times those results which in his judgment would be best to promote the welfare of his community and country, has lived worthily, and left behind him a heritage of incalculable value.

"No life
Can be pure in its purpose and strong in its strife
And all life not be purer and stronger thereby.
The spirits of just men made perfect on high,
The army of martyrs who stand by the throne
And gaze into the Face that makes glorious their own,
Know this, surely, at last. Honest love, honest sorrow,
Honest work for the day, honest hope for the morrow;
Are these worth nothing more than the hand they make weary,
The heart they have sadden'd, the life they leave dreary?
Hush! the sevenfold heavens to the voice of the Spirit
Echo: He that o'ercometh shall all things inherit."

Resolved, That this memorial be entered upon the Journal of the Senate and that a certified copy, signed by the Lieutenant Governor and attested by the Secretary of the Senate, be forwarded to the widow of Colonel Johnston.

RELATING TO READING AND COR-RECTING THE STATUTES.

The Speaker laid before the House, for consideration at this time, the following resolution:

S. C. R. No. 9, Relating to the reading and correcting the Statutes.

Whereas, Examination and use of the statutes, civil and criminal, enacted at the Regular Session of the Thirty-ninth Legislature, pursuant to report of the Codifying Commission reveals almost every day omissions of material parts of the statutes, especially the civil statutes, and various changes in and departures from the statutes heretofore existing; and

Whereas, It is impossible for members of the Legislature, during the session, either regular or special, to examine the entire statutes and discover such errors of omission and commission; and

Whereas, It is desirable and necessary that such errors and omissions be corrected by amendment in the interests of the courts, the bar and the people; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the House

concurring, That a committee of two members, both of whom shall be lawyers, be appointed, one of such members by the Speaker of the House and one by the presiding officer of the Senate, which committee shall have the power and is charged with the duty of reading the civil and criminal statutes, chapter by chapter, article by article, and section by section, as the same appear in the statutes existing before the recodification, and reading in like manner the statutes as codified and as adopted in 1925, and compare the two, so as to ascertain what changes, errors and omissions are revealed by the codification adopted in 1925, and report in printed form the results of its investigation to the Fortieth Legislature.

Be it further resolved, That the members of said committee be paid $10 a day each for not exceeding ninety days, and they be allowed to employ a stenographer at an expense not greater than $450, and that said committee be authorized to expend not exceeding $250 for printing their report.

Be it further resolved, That the sum of $1250 be set apart and appropriated out of the contingent fund of the House and the same sum out of the contingent fund of the Senate, in carrying out the purposes of this resolution; and per diem of the members of the committee, the salary of the stenographer and the cost of printing to be paid on accounts certified by the committee as correct.
